Stage Introduction

Please use this to introduce Tia to the stage, not for print

Our speaker today is the Founder and Chief Happiness Officer of Arrive At Happy. An organization that partners with executives to create happy, high-performing teams so that their business thrives. Tia is an international and TED speaker, best-selling author, and consultant on the science of happiness and organizational growth. Prior to founding her company, she led sales and marketing teams at luxury hotels in the United States and Europe. Her insights have been featured in major media such as CNN, Forbes, and Fast Company to name a few. Her book, Be a Happy Leader, teaches her proprietary methodology on driving growth through a culture of happiness.

There is another side to our speaker that's even more interesting. She's also been a ski area gondola lift attendant, shoe saleswoman, camp counsellor, a bar back, server, drive-through employee, cruise line ticket agent, hotel room service attendant, and sales manager. Fun fact - she once got lost hiking in the mountains in Spain and had to sleep overnight in a riverbed! We are thankful that she made it out alive and is with us here today :-)

Let's welcome Tia Graham.
